Accompanying quote: “The Osteopath who succeeds best does so because he looks to Nature for knowledge and obeys her teachings, then he gets good results. He is often amazed to see how faithfully Nature sticks to system. A few years spent in the school of Nature teaches the Osteopath that principles govern the universe, and he must obey all order or fail to cure his patient.” -AT Still, Osteopathy Research and Practice, page 13

AAOJ Call for Submissions

Time is precious and article writing is often triaged for busy physicians. In an effort to help guide the journal and stimulate interest in academic and scholarly activity, we are providing some broad topics that can be “reserved” for you. These are by no means the only topics for the journal, but it helps to eliminate the writer’s block that so many of us may face.

Science

- Case reports of a novel clinical situation with pertinence to OPP
- Describe the functional anatomy of a region of the body

Art

- What does the art of osteopathic medicine mean to you?
- Describe how you developed your sense of intuition in OMT

- Review ways of organizing a treatment

Philosophy

- How do you address your patient’s body, mind, and spirit in your practice?

History

- Write a short biography of one of AT Still’s students; what makes them distinctive and interesting?

If you are interested in any of these topics, send an email to communications@academyofosteopathy.org and reserve your topic today. Manuscripts should be submitted to PeerTrack within three months of reserving a topic. See the AAOJ’s Instructions for Contributors for more information on submitting manuscripts.

In addition, we are asking for peer reviewers to assist us in producing the best journals we can. Contact the AAO Publications Administrator at communications@academyofosteopathy.org if you can help in this capacity. No experience is required, and training resources will be provided. Peer reviewers are expected to review at least 2 manuscripts per year.

If you have any questions, please email us at editoraaoj@gmail.com.

Continuing Medical Education

The continuing medical education quizzes have been discontinued as of June 30, 2023. For additional information or to comment on the change, please contact the AAO at communications@academyofosteopathy.org.
